IMPORTANT TO CAPITALISTS.

Valuable Farm and Mills for Sale.

I OFFER for Sale, between this and 27th day of September, the valuable property known by the name of Bevington's Mills, situated immediately above the forks of Raccoon creek, Washington county, Pennsylvania. The farm consists of 120 acres, 50 of which are cleared, with a due proportion of meadow: the balance is well timbered, and the whole fertile and level. The buildings consist of two frame dwelling houses, one of which is occupied as a store, and the best stand in the country for business. Also, two cabin tenements, with stabling, &c. The mill house is forty feet square, three stories high, and calculated for three pair burrs, but containing only one pair burrs and one pair country stones, four bolts, four bolting cloths, one rolling screen, and one standing screen, with a saw mill attached to the same. The above property holds out many inducements to the capitalist, being a desirable situation for a thriving village, in the heart of a rich settlement, twenty-one miles from Pittsburgh, twenty-two miles from Beaver, twenty from Washington, and sixteen miles from Steubenville. The Turnpike from Pittsburgh to Steubenville and the great road from Washington to Beaver pass through the premises. A further description of the property is deemed unnecessary, as persons wishing to purchase will examine and judge for themselves. An unexceptionable title will be given.

JAMES CLARK.

N. B.—If the above property is not disposed of at private sale, previous to the 27th day of September, (Thursday,) it will on that day be offered at public sale.

POETRY.

From the Providence American.

THE DEPARTED.

When first creation sprung to light,
Obedient to a sovereign nod,
And all looked beautiful and bright,
Before the perfect eye of God;
When earth a new created thing,
Leaped forth in heaven with joyous spring,
And, to the spheres' harmonious chime,
Commenced the glorious march of time.

Then, in yon firmament's broad arch,
Unnumbered worlds together met,
And, moving onward in their march,
Their glowing seals in union set:
And there all beautiful they shone,
Together still yet still alone:
Bright diamonds in the crown of Heaven,
Like dew-drops in a summer even.

Then when the shadow of the night
Came down o'er earth with vesper dew,
Those worlds appeared a lovely sight,
In heaven, to man's enraptured view:
He gazed and wonder'd; from the sky
They looked down sweetly, gloriously,
While, silently as time, they went
Their swift way through the firmament.

Time thus went on with tireless wing,
Long ages o'er creation rolled,
But still those stars were clustering—
Long worn by age, yet never old;
They shone as brightly still, as when
They smiled above earth's first-born men;
As when, so oft, so sweet, and long,
They chimed creation's mourning song.

And yet all were not there; the wheels
Of some had ceased to move in Heaven*
Upon their joyous course; the seals
Were broken which they once had given,
The light which made them lovely shone
No more on earth, for they were gone;
Man mourned when o'er those gems of pride
Oblivion rolled his noiseless tide.

So must the beautiful of earth
Bow to the mandate of decay;
Beauty, wit, wisdom, friendship, worth,
Must, like a dew-drop pass away;
Yes, they must pass, earth cannot keep
Her brightest, best, from death's long sleep;
The spirits which they claim must burn
Beneath the silent mouldering urn.

Thus they have passed from earth, the good—
Those whom we loved, for whom we wept.
Let no unhallowed steps intrude
Upon the lowly couch of sleep,
Where silently and still they lie,
Beneath one canopy, the sky;
Beyond the power of worldly cares,
The earth's temptations and its snares.

It were not meet that man should dare,
To wish his loved ones here again:
Their dwelling-place is holy, where
The passions of unrighteous [illegible],
Cloud not the brow nor dim [illegible]
Nor wake one thought of [illegible] gladly rest
Their home is HEAVEN,—blest.

GRANT'S DEFEAT.

The following account of this unfortunate affair, is more particular than any account we have seen—it is extracted from the Pennsylvania Gazette, October 12, 1758.

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 5th.

We are informed by a letter from Frederick county, that on the 11th of September, Major Grant of the Highland regiment, marched from our camp on the waters of the Kickiminita's with 37 officers, and 805 privates, taken from the different regiments that compose the Western Army, on an expedition against Fort Duquesne.

The third day after their march they arrived within 11 miles of Fort Duquesne, and halted till 3 o'clock in the afternoon; then marched within 2 miles of Fort Duquesne, and left their baggage there, guarded by a captain, two subalterns, and fifty men, and marched with the rest of the troops, and arrived at 11 o'clock at night upon a hill, a quarter of a mile from the Fort. Major Grant sent 2 officers and 50 men to the Fort, to attack all the Indians, &c. they should find lying out of the Fort; they saw none, nor were they challenged by the centries. As they returned, they set fire to a large stone house, which was put out as soon as they left it. At break of day, Major Lewis was sent with 200 men, (royal Americans and Virginians,) to lie in ambush a mile and a half from the main body, on the path on which they left their baggage, imagining the French would send to attack the baggage guard and seize it. Four hundred men were posted along the hill facing the Fort, to cover the retreat of Capt. M'Donald's company, who marched with drums beating towards the Fort, in order to draw a party out of the Fort, as Major Grant had some reason to believe there were not above 200 men in the Fort, including Indians; but as soon as they heard the drums, they sallied out in great numbers, both French and Indians, and fell upon Capt. M'Donald, and two columns that were posted low on the hill to receive them. The Highlanders exposed themselves without any cover, and were shot down in great numbers, and soon forced to retreat. The Carolinians, Marylanders, and Low Countrymen, concealing themselves behind trees and the brush, made a good defence; but were overpowered by numbers, and not being supported, were obliged to follow the rest. Major Grant exposed himself in the thickest of the fire, and endeavored to rally his men, but all to no purpose, as they were by this time flanked on all sides. Major Lewis and his party came up and engaged, but were soon obliged to give way, the enemy having the hill of him, and flanking him every way. A number were drove into the Ohio, most of whom were drowned. Major Grant retreated to the baggage, where Capt. Bullet was posted with 50 men, and again endeavoring to rally the flying soldiers, by entreating them in the most pathetic manner to stand by him, but all in vain, as the enemy were close at their heels. As soon as the enemy came up to Capt. Bullet, he attacked them very furiously for some time, but not being supported, and most of his men killed, was obliged to give way. However, his attacking them, stopped the pursuit, so as to give many an opportunity of escaping.—The enemy followed Major Grant, and at last separated them, and Capt. Bullet was obliged to make off. He imagined the Major must be taken, as he was surrounded on all sides, but the enemy would not kill him, and then called to him to surrender. The French gave quarters to all that would accept it.

By Steam.—[illegible] understand that the transportation on the Baltimore and Ohio Rail-road, by steam, was resumed on the 9th inst., and that it will be regularly continued hereafter.—Balt. Pat.

A great Road.—A late English paper says, it is in contemplation to open a direct Railway communication from London, through Cambridge, Sleaford, [illegible] Lincoln, to Retford; and thence through B[illegible]y and Doncaster, and forward nearly in a line [illegible] the great north road, to Edinburgh. The distance is about 340 miles, and is to be accomplished in fourteen hours.—Balt. Pat.

The recent discoveries of Drs. Clanny and Stephens, the former a resident or native of Sunderland, (England,) and the latter a practitioner in the West Indies, are said, upon high authority, to change all the received opinions on the nature and treatment of Fevers. DR. STEPHENS has satisfactorily proved that the proximate cause of Yellow Fever is to be found in the changes which the blood undergoes, and that the true remedy for this, and other fevers, consists in opposing, by proper means, these changes. Until a very recent period, the organic lesions (hurts) capable of producing death, in fevers were supposed to be confined exclusively to the solids of the body, or, in other words, that the fluids, in which the course of the blood is included, had no share in producing a fatal termination. This theory, we are told, had many opponents, but that it, nevertheless, generally prevailed, until Dr. Clanny submitted it to the test of direct experiment. The changes which the blood undergoes, are said by Dr. C. to be incontestible; and the violence of the symptoms, and the certainty of death, are proved by him, to be strictly relative to the rapidity and extent of those changes. The practice of Drs. C. and S. which has for its special object, to prevent the recurrence of those changes in the blood, of which we have spoken, is said to be attended with extraordinary success. In cases of typhus fever, where care is taken to protect the system from the pernicious effects of early excitement, the symptoms may be led, as it were, at will, to a speedy and favorable termination. Similar means produced the same effects in yellow fever. The treatment which should be resorted to in the early stages of these fevers, consists in allaying the excitement, if any exist, during the first twenty-four hours, by venesection, (bleeding,) mild purgatives, and sponging the body with cold water. The saline medicines, which are the best agents for preventing the decomposition of the blood, are then exhibited in small and repeated doses. Those usually preferred are the Rochelle Salt and the Carbonate of Soda, Potass, and Ammonia.

Not a single case in three hundred and forty, in which this practice was tried, proved fatal. It can be clearly proved, says Dr. S. that in the West India fevers, those patients who are left to nature, have a better chance of recovery than those who are treated with emetics, calomel, or antimony, opium or acids—these remedies increasing the evils they are meant to relieve, and add greatly to the mortality of fever in hot climates. Dr. Stephens, that those who attend only to the solids, can never cure a single case of Yellow Fever that is really severe. This improvement in the treatment of fever, is spoken of in the highest terms by Dr. Elliotson and others, and merits, we conceive, the immediate and serious attention of our physicians in Charleston. We have drawn up the above statement, greatly abridged, from an elaborate article upon the subject, contained in a late number of the London New Monthly Magazine.—Charleston Courier.

Castor Oil for Lamps.—A discovery which bids fair to become of considerable importance to the agricultural community, and especially to the western country, has recently been made by Mr. Isaac Smith, of Eastville, Northampton county, Virginia, by which he is able to render castor oil fully equal to the best winter sperm for burning in lamps. We have tried the prepared oil, with a sample of which we were politely furnished by his son, Francis H. Smith, of this city, the inventor of the excellent instrument of music called the harmonicon or musical glasses. We trimmed a double wick lamp with the oil, and it was left burning five hours and a half without being touched, during which time it afforded a large and highly luminous flame, perfectly free from smoke or the least degree of offensive smell. The tubes and wick were entirely free from crust till within the last half hour. The wick was raised considerably higher than we were ever able to raise it in burning the best sperm, thus affording a much larger flame; and yet the consumption of oil did not appear to be greater than usual in burning.—The preparation of the oil reduces the price about nine per cent. so that allowing the price of castor oil to be 95 cents, the cost of the prepared oil will be 86 cents per gallon. Mr. Smith intends to take out a patent for his improvement: we are not at liberty to give the particulars of the discovery.—We have given the address of Mr. Smith above, that persons wishing further information may be able to obtain it from him direct.—Amer. Farmer.

New Species of Oats.—The avena farina, or true skinless oats, is the most valuable crop perhaps ever produced in this empire. It was grown up in the season of 1830, for the first time it was ever produced in Great Britain, by T. Derenzy, Esq. of Globeman Hall, who obtained the seed through a friend of his at Rotterdam, whither it was imported from Samang, a remote district in China; and was unknown to the Europeans until within these three years. The advantages which this extraordinary and valuable grain possesses over all kinds of oats are numerous, viz: when thrashed from the sheaf it is exactly like oatmeal, and is fit for immediate use for culinary purposes, and every other for which oatmeal is consumed, the grain being quite free from any particle of rind or husk. The flavor is delicious, and it contains much more farinaceous matter. There is, of course, a considerable saving of oats, and expense of kiln-drying, grinding, sifting, &c. and one peck of it contains more nutritious food for a horse than three pecks of common oats. The produce is most astonishing, the average twenty-six barrels or fourteen tons to the Irish acre—the exact quantity grown by Mr. Derenzy on one acre.—It was not sown till the 4th May, and reaped early in August the same year. It is remarkably hardy, and well adapted for this climate.—Essex Standard.

Patent Bread.—A discovery has recently been made in the baking of bread, which promises important consequences. The process for which Mr. Hicks, of Wimpole street, has obtained a patent, may be briefly described as follows. His oven is made of iron, of a cylindrical form; so constructed as to be hermetically sealed. The fuel is placed upon a plate which is kept revolving upon a circle, under the oven; by which means, the heat is supplied at the smallest expense of fuel. The temperature within the oven is indicated by a thermometer, according to which the application of the fuel is regulated. When the thermometer has reached 300 degrees, the oven is charged; and then by a simple process, the door is closed and made air-tight. In a quarter of an hour, the vapor, which is evolved from the dough, passes through a small aperture in the top of the oven, which communicates with a still, and thus undergoes the process of distillation. The only care required is, not to raise the temperature much above 300 degrees. When the alcohol ceases to drop, it is a sure sign that the bread is sufficiently baked. The time to complete a batch is about an hour and three quarters. Each quartern loaf produces about an ounce of proof spirit. The advantages of this invention are many and obvious. The bread is purified, and rendered of superior quality, by the expulsion, in vapor, of all the matter which, when allowed to remain, renders it acid and unwholesome; and this very matter is converted into alcohol, in such quantity as to be an object of importance. Bread baked in this way, after being kept a week, is more moist, and fresher, than bread baked by the present process only two days old. We are informed that a company, for the baking of bread, under Mr. Hicks's patent, is to be immediately established, and to be called the Metropolitan Genuine Bread Company.—London Spectator.

Camden, S. C. August 20.—We have been visited by the most destructive freshet known since the memory of man. The crops on the river plantations are entirely swept—planters, who expected to make 500 bales of cotton, will not make 10. This, with the loss of their provision crops, stock of cattle, hogs, destruction of fences, and injury to the soil, will make a sum total, which we cannot at this time estimate. We believe that 300,000 dollars will not cover the losses sustained by this portion of our fellow citizens in this district alone. Amongst the injuries sustained is the loss of our fine bridge. It embraced four arches neatly constructed, two of which, the longest, have been carried off.

Jerome Bonaparte, the Ex-King of Westphalia, now called the Prince de Montfort, is about to leave Rome for Leghorn, where a brig of his brother Joseph, the Ex-King of Spain, is waiting to convey him to the United States. The Prince de Montfort is packing up the greater part of the statues and other monuments of antiquity that enriched his residence of Placentia, near Fermo, in the marsh of Ancona, which he intends to take with him. He has, however, sold to his brother Lucien, Prince of Canino, the fine statues found at Ruffinella, which was built upon the ruins of Cicero's celebrated villa of Tusculum. These antiquities will give an increased value to the museum of Lucien, so rich from the Etruscan vases found in the foundation of Withelnia, the ancient capital of Etruria.—Galignani's Messenger.

Cholera.—This disorder, which is raging with such alarming violence in Russia, threatens to extend over Europe. The Russian armies are rapidly spreading it through Poland; and will probably inoculate the west of Europe. A striking fact is mentioned respecting the disorder, namely, that its attacks on temperate livers are neither frequent nor virulent, while it rarely passes over the intemperate, or fails to destroy him. This is a feature of the disease which marks it as an epidemic—epidemics invariably selecting for victims the debilitated tippler and the exhausted debauchee. No wonder that such a disease makes havoc among a people so notoriously intemperate as all travelers represent the Russians. And the fact accounts at once for its fatality in the Russian armies, and its comparative mildness among the Poles. Does it not mark it, also, as the instrument of an over-ruling Providence, sparing the oppressed, while it strikes down the oppressor?—New Haven Adv.

Professor Hossacker, in a letter to the editor of the Medical Gazette of Inspruck shows that, in proportion as the age of the married male exceeds that of the female, the proportion of boys born to girls increases. In cases where the father was from nine to twelve years older than the mother, the male children were to the female, as 123 7-10 to 100; when the father was eighteen years or more older than the mother, the male were to the female children as 200 to 100. Is not this a marvellous provision of Providence? The object to be promoted is to supply the deficiency of males, the male parent having lived without propagating the species, and the result being the same as if the male had not lived, or as if there had been fewer males.

Ancient Creed.—The Auburn (N. Y.) Gospel Messenger copies from an English paper the annexed curious form of the Apostle's creed published in the year 1151, by order of King Henry Second, to be subscribed by the Irish. It conveys, like Wickliffe's edition of the new testament, an idea of the great changes which our language has undergone since the twelfth century.—"I beleeve God Fadir Almichty Eppi[illegible]r of Heaven a[illegible] Earth, and in Ihesus Christ h[illegible] oneleihi son u[illegible] Lorverd that is ivange the Holy Gho[illegible] bore of Mary Maiden, Tholede [illegible]ine under Pon[illegible] Pilat, picht on rode Tree, dead and is buri[illegible] liecht into Hell, the tridde dai from death ar[illegible] God steich in to Heaven, sit on his Fadir ri[illegible] hond Almichty, then is commande to deme quicke and the dede. Most of our readers, probably have heard of Franklin's saw dust pudding. But there was m[illegible] nutriment in it than the Doctor supposed, as [illegible] may judge by the annexed article:—Nat. Ga[illegible] Autenrieth of Tübingen's experiments on the conversion of ligneous food. M. Autenrieth takes a piece of wood, by frequent maceration and boiling, separates from it every thing that is soluble in water. The wood thus purified is then reduced to sawdust, repeatedly subjected to the heat of an oven, and [illegible]ly ground into flour. It requires leaven in the making, with the addition of which it makes a uniform spongy bread. The color is rather yellow, but when baked and crusty, it is not only very nutritious, but much superior in every respect to the brown bread made of the bran and husks of corn flour. [This is a discovery, as Mr. Hers[illegible] remarks, which renders famine next to imp[illegible]ible; and deserves a far higher degree of celebrity than it has obtained."]—Medical Gazette.

In the last Mercury we find an article dedicated particularly to our use, and kindly offered as a "breakfast for Mr. Craig." We assure that editor that it is a very light one. The attempt is made to convict us of inconsistency, between our remarks upon a resolution offered by Mr. Moore in 1830, and our remarks upon Mr. Craft's vote.— It so happens, however, that there is not even an approach to inconsistency in our conduct in those two cases. We are glad that the charge is made, because it affords us an opportunity to press, once more, distinctly, our objection to Mr. Craft's vote.

In March, 1830, Mr. Miller, of Philadelphia, was killed in a duel, by Lieutenant Hunter, of the Navy: on the 27th of that month, Mr. Moore, of Beaver, under the impulse of those kind and humane feelings which governed every action of offered a preamble and two resolutions, of following is the first:

by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in That the President of the fully requested to strike the said Lieut. Charles

In this case there was no memorial of any portion of the citizens of this commonwealth requesting such a resolution, and we considered the interference improper—first, because the legislature had no right to interfere in the matter, and because it would be undignified and unbecoming a legislature representing thirteen hundred thousand people, to commence a crusade against a poor subaltern of the navy, who, however guilty, was no doubt already prostrate and humbled by the weight of his crimes and the reproaches of his own conscience. e editor of the Mercury alleges that we now regard the doctrines urged by us on a former occasion.

A clear recollection of the question before the use when Mr. Craft gave his vote, will remove difficulty or pretence of difficulty in this matter. e editor of the Mercury assumes that Mr. Hays ed for a resolution instructing our representaes in congress to endeavor to procure a repeal the Indian bill, and that Mr. Craft voted against he also assumes that we assail Mr. Craft for so ing. Now the fact is not so, and we have uninly stated that the question of the propriety or propriety of the passage of the resolution incting our delegation in congress, &c. was alether immaterial in the consideration of Mr. aft's conduct. The question before the legislae when Mr. Craft gave his objectionable vote s this: will we postpone indefinitely the motion appoint a committee?—that is, in substance, ll the legislature treat the memorialists in this with less respect than other memorialists have n uniformly treated?—Or, in other words, will legislature nullify the right to petition secured he people by the constitution?

This was the substance of the question, and so have always viewed it.—The following extracts n our papers will show our present statement to correct.—In our first call, in the Gazette of 12th y, we have the following sentence:

"We publish in the list now without further comnt, to give Mr. Craft an opportunity to explain y he refused to assent to the MERE reference to a mittee. Mr. Craft may have approved the In bill, but that would not justify the refusal to oint a committee. It is surely very usual in lative bodies to appoint committees upon the yer of petitioners, even when the legislature may pposed to that prayer."

n the paper of July 19 we have the following rarks:

"In the consideration of this matter, it is immaterial whether Mr. Craft was in favor of or oped to the Indian bill. The petitions, under 20th section of the 19th article of the constituti, came before the legislature, and Mr. Craft jed in refusing to hear them. His opposition te Indian bill would be no excuse for such cond." n the paper of August 5th we read as follow "hen the sovereign people present their petition, ty present it under the impression that they have aght to do so, and if their servants refuse to grant th which is asked for, they should place upon recd the grounds of their refusal. In the present ce, admit that the legislature had righteously detenined to refuse to request the Pennsylvania deletion to endeavor to procure a repeal of the India bill, still the proper course would have been to appoint a committee, and that committee having reported the grounds of the refusal, it could be made public for the information of the people."

We repeat, we are well pleased that this charge of inconsistency is made, because it affords us an opportunity to repeat what we have so often before stated, that we condemn Mr. Craft not because he voted against instructing our delegation to endeavor to procure a repeal of the Indian bill, but because he gave a vote which in effect nullified that provision of the constitution which guaranties to the people a right to petition their servants in legislature assembled.

A HINT.—If it is true that Mr. Craft intends to come out with an explanation of his nullifying vote just before the election, when its falsity and unsoundness cannot be exposed, we assure him it will be labor lost. The people will properly appreciate such a pitiful attempt to deceive them.— More than nine weeks have elapsed since we gave him an opportunity to explain, and any explanaion secretly circulated just before the election will e viewed as a mere trick. If any of our friends the country (it will not be seen in town) should such a paper, we hope they will send us a copy oon as possible.

One great point of opposition to the tariff was, that it would ruin the reve but its friends said, that the revenue must increased, as the tariff would supply means to le the people to indulge themselves in the use of foreign goods; and now, the opponents e tariff calculate, upon the increased revenue, reak down the tariff. These are queer things, true.—Niles.

Washington Family.—The lamented Col. Va ri was the last of the military secretaries, associated with Harrison, Hanson, and Jonathan Trumbull, in the war of the revolution.

the aids-de-camp, Col. John Trumbull, (aid before Boston, in 1775,) alone survives the long and honored list of Mifflin, Reed, Johnson, Bland, Tor, Grayson, Smith, Fitzgerald, Meade, Pinkney, Hamilton, Laurens, Humphries, Cobb, Ti ham, &c. &c. Trumbull, with the venerated Lafayette, form the "time honored" remains of the many and the worthy who were attached to the personal suite of the commander-in-chief in the day of trial.

the officers of the guard, Colfax, Gibbs, Gries, Nicholas, &c. are all stricken out from the muster roll of life—probably not a single soldier of the body guard now answers to his name.

the officers of the first president of the U. States, comprising from 1789 to '97 the secretaries Lear, Humphries, Jackson, Lewis, Nelson, Cra Dandridge, all are gone! The adopted children, Mr. Curtis, of Arlington, and Mrs. Lewis, of Wood Lawn, are all that exist of Washington's family at the outset of the present government. Not a servant of that period is living, although one, a very aged female, still lives, who was at the camp of Morristown, 1777, and the Valley Forge, 1777-8. Such is the unsparing scythe of time!—Niles.

The import of foreign wools were 315 bales from Smyrna, 2 from Hamburgh, and 700 from London—which are said to embrace nearly all the foreign wool ordered for the Boston market.—Niles.

Ohio Canal.—The water was let into the Canal Circleville on Thursday last, and on Monday evening had reached the Aqueduct on Deer Creek. In the course of the next week at farthest, it may be expected at the locks, 1½ miles above the town. It is not yet ascertained whether the reservoir at the Licking Summit, which was broken during the late freshet, will be again filled before the fall rains, but recent information induces us to believe that it will be, and that in the course of a few weeks we may expect to see boats from the waters of Lake Erie.—Sc

Hurricane at St. Jago de Cuba.—On the 13th ult. that part of the island experienced one of the most tremendous hurricanes ever known in the West Indies—seven vessels were wrecked in the Bay; as well as several on the coast, besides many others suffered considerable damage. A great number of houses in the town and suburbs were materially injured. But the devastation in the country was dreadful, many individuals being killed by the falling of houses and trees. Buildings which were considered of the firmest structure were thrown—and a great part of the Coffee Plantations, together with their produce in store, destroyed. The ravages continued until the 16th, and the inhabitants were apprehensive of a scarcity of provisions.—Havana Price Current, of Aug. 27.

Exportations of specie from this country, are now making upon an extensive scale. Upwards of 700,000 dolls. were shipped on the 1st inst. in the packets bound to England and France; and it is believed that more than 5,000,000 have been exported during the present season. We learn that a single house shipped, on the 1st, about 200,000 dollars. Almost every packet has, for some time past, taken out more specie than the offices here will insure, and a part of the risques have been taken in Boston. The President, which sailed on the 16th ult., took out 400,000 dollars. A variety of causes have occasioned this drain of the precious metals.—N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

The Quebec Gazette says, that among the officers on board the frigate Blanche, arrived at that place from Jamaica, is Ali Effendi, son, it is understood, of the Pacha of Egypt, who is serving with the rank of Commander. This gentleman is one of several natives of Egypt, who have been put on board of English ships of war by the present enterprising Pacha of that country, to receive a good naval education.

Baltimore, Sept. 9.—The result of the elections in this State, demonstrates the correctness of the assurance we frequently gave to our friends, that the Jackson party would be defeated in this State by a large majority. Our readers will recollect that in our estimates of the result, as far back as July last, we maintained that our opponents could not obtain more than thirteen of the forty electors. They have twelve, admitting that Kent has gone for them. Thus the National Republicans have obtained a signal triumph, having more than two to one of the electoral college. The Senate (15) will, of course, be anti-Jackson, which secures Maryland for the next five years.

The Mohawk and Hudson Rail Road.—By the Argus we learn that another experiment was made on this road, with the locomotive engine; the passage from Schenectady to Albany was performed in fifty minutes. The engine returned the following day to Schenectady. In these experiments, the fuel used is wood. A further attempt to introduce anthracite coal was made early in the week. The engine was propelled at the rate of twenty-miles an hour; but the heat was so intense as to melt the bars of the grate.

The Albany Advertiser of the 7th instant, states the result of some further experiments on the Mohawk rail road, with the American locomotive engine. On Monday afternoon, this engine, with a train of cars attached to it, ran seven miles in thirteen minutes, being at the rate of thirty-two miles and upwards an hour. On Tuesday, the whole distance, twelve miles and a quarter, was performed in thirty-five minutes, the engine having a train of four cars annexed, containing sixty-eight passengers.

The Directors of the Hudson and Mohawk Rail Road Company, have determined upon increasing their capital stock from $30,000 to $50,000, for the purpose of completing the second track, which was commenced about three months since.—Ball. American.

The Harvest in England.—From the accounts published in the various provincial papers there seems every prospect of a more abundant harvest than has been for several years. In several parts of England, Ireland, and Scotland, fine crops of wheat, oats, and barley, have been already cut.— We understand the crops in this neighborhood are in a very promising condition.—Liverpool Mercury, July 29.

General Camp Meeting.—A large meeting of Christians of various denominations was recently held at New Hope meeting-house, near Bolivar, in the Western District of Tennessee, at which it was resolved to hold a general camp-meeting at that place, to commence on the Friday before the third Sabbath in September, and to be conducted jointly by the ministers and members of the Presbyterian, Cumberland Presbyterian, Baptist, Episcopal Methodist, and Protestant Methodist churches.

The Philadelphia United States' Gazette states that Mr. Reeside, the enterprising mail contractor, has ordered a number of very elegant stage coaches, from the manufactory at Troy, which are to be placed on the new line that is to commence running between Baltimore and Pittsburgh, by the way of Chambersburgh, on the first of October next.—Balt. Amer.

We last week visited Mr. D'Homergue's Filature, in Pine street, and witnessed the operation of reeling silk from the cocoons. The cocoons are placed in a large copper kettle filled with water, under which is a fire to keep it constantly hot. The heat soaks the cocoons and loosens the ends, six or eight of which are placed through a reel, and the whole are rapidly wound off. Six females are now employed in reeling, but they are able to reel only twelve ounces a day. The filature is calculated for nearly twice the number of hands, but a scarcity of cocoons has materially lessened the business. From the present prospects there will be abundance for the future. The silk when reeled is worth about seven dollars a pound, sometimes eight.

This country must hold itself deeply indebted to the labors of the patriotic gentleman above named, for the ceaseless efforts he has made during the last three years, to introduce the silk manufacture into the United States. Already we have abundant evidence that it is destined to become one of the great staples of the country, and we shall probably live to see it rival in importance the cotton of the south, or the manufactures of the east.—Sat. Bulletin.

Attention the Whole!—The Washington Spectator contains the following alarming paragraph:— "The Cabinet Battle.—The great guns have been discharged, with the exception of Major Eaton's, which is said to be the most tremendous blunderbuss that civilization has ever known; it will be discharged, rumor says, in a few days, and will put his enemies where "even recollection can no longer retain the fact" of their previous existence."

King's property.—Louis Philippe is the richest sovereign in Europe; his private revenue amounts to ten millions of francs a year, about four hundred thousand pounds sterling. Next to him comes the elector of Hesse Cassel, who enjoys a revenue of seven millions of francs; the ex-king of the Belgians is supposed to come third on the list.—Court Journal.

It is not a little remarkable that Prince Leopold has supplanted the Prince of Orange on two very interesting occasions. The latter was proposed as the husband of the Princess Charlotte, but Prince Leopold was preferred. The Prince of Orange expected to succeed to the Sovereignty of of Belgium, but Price Leopold is preferred.

Nothing can more highly contribute to the fixing of right apprehensions, and a sound judgment or sense of right or wrong, than to believe in a God, who is ever represented such as to be exactly a model and example of the most exact justice, and highest goodness and worth. Such a view of divine providence and bounty, as extended to all, and expressed in a constant good affection towards the whole, must of necessity engage us, within our compass and sphere, to act by a like principle and affection. And having once the good of our species or public in view, as our end or aim, 'tis impossible we should be misguided by any means to a false apprehension or sense of right or wrong.— Shaftesbury.

To the Free Voters of Allegheny County.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—At the request of some of my friends, I have consented to place my name before you as a candidate for the Legislature of Pennsylvania.

As it is the first time I have solicited the suffrages of my friends, I deem it proper to state that I am a democratic republican: the leading principles which constitute the basis of my political creed, will be found in the constitution of our country: "that all rightful power is in the people, and can only emanate from their will."

The encouragement and protection of internal improvement and domestic industry, will, if I be elected, receive my ardent and zealous support.

With this brief exposition of my views, I remain, respectfully, your fellow citizen,

TOWN LOTS FOR SALE.

THE subscriber will offer at public sale, on the premises, on the 18th of October next, commencing at 11 o'clock, A. M., a large number of TOWN LOTS AT "BEAVER POINT," situated as follows: One range of Lots fronting on the bayou that cuts across from the Big Beaver to the Ohio river; and also a range of Lots fronting on an alley that runs parallel with Beaver creek, back of Bridgewater. All the Island will also be laid out in small lots and sold, which lies immediately at the junction of the Ohio river and Big Beaver creek. The situation of all these lots is beautiful for building, perhaps not surpassed in the western country; presenting a very commanding prospect, and lying so near the Ohio river and the basin about to be made at the mouth of Big Beaver, will make them eligible sites for any kind of public business. It is unnecessary for me to enlarge in their commendation; but I most earnestly request my fellow citizens, both in this vicinity and at a distance, to attend and judge for themselves. The terms will be easy, and made known the morning of the sale.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
